Parkview Fairways

Parkview Fairways is a fun course to play. Arriving at the clubhouse you’re greeted by a beautiful garden, with flowers blossoming all season long. It’s a relatively new course, celebrating their 20th year anniversary this season. It offers enough challenge to keep it interesting but not so much that you can’t relax and enjoy yourself. The clubhouse and facilities are always very clean and the course is well maintained. There are some lovely views, and it’s close enough to Ganondagan that you can hear the drums beating in the distance during their music festival.

The course itself is a mix of longer and shorter holes (5069 yards from the forward tees) so you get to use all the clubs in your bag. The course layout features several of the forward tees tucked off to the side, so it’s important to know your distances, especially if you’re a longer hitter. Greens ran true. The course is very walkable, though could use a few more benches. Carts are electric, so very quiet, and are powered by the course’s own solar station. Our raters thoroughly enjoyed the experience. The GHIN indexes of this group of raters was a little higher than usual, ranging from 23 to 40, so bear that in mind as you read the comments. One piece of advice – on #8, aim for the barn. Trust us on that one.

Comments:
- Women golf instructor not on site but associated with the course
- Hardly any merchandise
- More women friendly than some other courses played
- #15 Tee too far right
- #17 Tee too far left
